MAN IS DEAD AFTER LATE-NIGHT ATTACK

Murder probe launched after Pole, 40, set upon in the street dies

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A POLISH man has died after being attacked at The Stow, Harlow, on Saturday night.

A murder investigation was launched after Arkadiusz Jozwik, a 40-year-old uncle who lived in Harlow, died from his injuries on Monday.

Arek, as the man was known, was one of two men attacked outside 'TGF' Pizza around 11.30pm.

A worker at the takeaway, who did not wish to be named, said Mr Jozwik and two Polish friends had ordered pizza an hour and a half before the attack.

Blood

He said: "I went out to him. He was lying on the ground in a really bad way."

"There was blood coming from his ear."

"I would have advised them to sit and eat it inside but I thought maybe they were going home."

The man added that gangs of teenagers have been problematic in the area and that at one stage workers had pulled one of the victims inside the shop to help him escape the mob.

Arek was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital with head injuries and was transferred to Addenbrooke's Hospital where he died on Monday evening.

The second victim, a 43-year-old man from Harlow who has not been named, was taken to the same hospital with suspected fractures to his hands and bruising to his stomach but has been discharged.

New hospital is 'not sustainable' says NHS

Campaign is launched calling for public disclosure of plans

Sam Meadows

sam.meadows@hertssexnews.co.uk

A NEW hospital in Harlow to replace under-pressure Princess Alexandra Hospital is "not sustainable" according to NHS bosses.

It has been revealed that trusts across Hertfordshire and West Essex – including the Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust in Harlow – face a deficit of £411m.

At a recent NHS board meeting, a draft sustainability and transformation plan (STP), which sets out ways to combat this deficit, was presented.

The blueprint suggests that while a new hospital is needed to reduce the strain on PAH, a "standalone hospital is not sustainable".

It suggests that the solution could be to work more closely with other trusts or the private sector.

An investigation by campaign group 38 Degrees has found STPs are being drawn up in 44 areas of England, but no consultations have taken place.

Secretive

Laura Townshend, a director at the organisation, criticised the secretive nature of the plans.

She said: "The NHS belongs to all of us – so local people in Hertfordshire and West Essex should get a say in any changes to their local services."

"That's why hundreds of thousands of us have joined the 38 Degrees campaign calling for Health Secretary Jeremy Hunt to commit to full public disclosure of plans for each and every one of the 44 areas across England."

She added: "We all rely on these services, yet we are being kept in the dark."

"This investigation – funded by individual 38 Degrees members across England – shows that the NHS is dangerously underfunded."

"These proposed cuts aren't the fault of local NHS leaders. The health service is struggling to cope with growing black holes in NHS funding."

The Care Quality Commission (CQC) determined the Princess Alexandra Hospital "required improve-

Huge challenges ahead says plan boss

THE NHS in Hertfordshire and West Essex faces huge challenges, according to a senior executive.

Tim Cahill, who is taking the lead for the region's sustainability and transformation plan (STP), said a draft proposal would be published in the autumn.

He added: "To ensure that we have a local NHS fit for the future that delivers high quality health and care for residents in Hertfordshire and West Essex, we need to work together to use our NHS resources wisely."

"There are huge challenges ahead, for example we know that some of our hospitals are in need of investment and improvement.

"We are working with local health and care professionals and councils to discuss how we can ensure people get health and care treatment in a place and at a time that is right for them."

"This means more preventative care, and bringing care out of hospitals and closer to home."

He also pledged that the trust would work with the local population to ensure the STP fits the needs of people living in the region.

ment" earlier this year, but the plan reveals it would cost £170m to make it fit for purpose.

In addition, there are plans to save £27m through "reduced activity" in West Essex.

The draft plan was presented at a board meeting of the West Herts NHS

Trust in May this year.

Mental health services given £800,000 boost

MENTAL health services in Harlow are set to benefit from a share of a multi-million pound investment.

The Government has been under pressure to stop the practice of putting people suffering a mental health crisis into a police cell when they have not committed a crime.

As part of a £15m national fund from the Department of Health, North and South Essex Partnership University NHS Trusts (NSEPUNT) received £819,000 to upgrade health-based places of safety.

Jeremy Hunt, health secretary, said: "This Government is committed to ending the scandal of people in crisis being locked up in police cells."

"When a person is experiencing a mental health crisis they need the right care, in the right place and at the right time."

"We are fully committed to improving mental health services across the country and these projects will help support people at a crucial time."

After a successful bid to receive a share of funding, Harlow will benefit alongside four other Essex locations, Basildon, Chelmsford, Colchester and Rochford.

In 2014/15 police cells were used as a place of safety in Essex on 155 occasions, including five times when someone aged under 18 was detained in custody.

NSEPUNT will now choose how to spend the money. Options include: making refurbishments to places of safety to increase capacity; building new places of safety; making existing places suitable for people aged under 18; and creating a crisis centre.

Amber Rudd, home secretary, added: "We have seen good progress on our manifesto commitment to reduce the use of cells, with numbers dropping by 32 per cent across England and Wales in just one year."

"But there is still more to do."

Veterans to benefit from fundraising

A HARLOW optician donated £1 for every sight test carried out in a week to a charity which helps blind former servicemen.

Specsavers, in Broad Walk, raised £300 for Blind Veterans through the fundraiser which also included a bake sale and dress down day.

Neha Patel, store director at Specsavers in Harlow, said: "We are proud to have taken part in Armed Forces Week."

"Blind Veterans UK provides crucial support to those who have either lost or had their sight damaged while representing our country in the armed forces."

"We'd like to thank everyone involved for their generous donations. It's through donations like this that Blind Veterans UK can continue to give its members their independence back and helps them discover a life beyond sight loss."

'Arek was a good uncle, he would play football with my son'

Brother's tribute to Stow murder victim

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE brother of a man who died in an attack in Harlow has paid tribute to a loving family man.

Father-of-two Radek Jozwik, 36, visited The Stow where his sibling Arkadiusz, 40, was assaulted on Saturday night and died from his injuries on Monday.

Radek said: "He was standing eating pizza. He does not speak much English."

Radek was joined at The Stow by his wife Sylwi and said his mother is struggling to come to terms with the loss.

He said: "My mum came back from holiday and did not know what had happened."

"We had to meet her at Stansted Airport and tell her and then take her straight to the hospital. She is really struggling."

Radek invited his brother, known as Arek, to live in the UK and the younger sibling has now lived in Harlow for 12 years.

He said: "We will not leave because of this. I have two children and we have British passports. This is my home."

He added: "Arek loved coming to my home and playing with my children."

"We had seen him at 6pm on Saturday night and he was happy. He had been painting a room and was in good spirits."

"The next day he was going to come to our home and we were going to sit outside and have dinner, the kids would be playing in the garden and now this has happened."

"He always cared about my kids - he was a good uncle to them. He would play football with my son."

Mourners placed candles and flowers by a bench at The Stow while pressure group Harlow Stand Up To Racism held a vigil last night.

Members of the Polish community are planning a march of silence on Saturday at The Stow while Polish food shop U Polaka has a flag which has been signed in tribute to Mr Jozwik.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said: "I am deeply saddened at the tragic death. I give my heartfelt sympathy to the whole of Harlow's wonderful Polish community."

SAYING IT WITH FLOWERS: Members of the community have been leaving floral tributes and messages at the scene

Extra patrols promised after street attack

■ From front page anyone with information to contact us as soon as possible."

Police promised extra patrols in the area and put in place a 48-hour dispersal order for The Stow after a number of reports of anti-social behaviour.

Mr Jozwik moved to the UK in 2012 to join his mother and brother Radek. He worked at the sausage factory Riverway Foods LTD in River Way, Harlow.

An off-licence owner in The Stow, who did not wish to be named, said: "There have been attacks in the past. "There is a gang of the teens that hang around. It's made the area a no-go zone at night for locals as they are fearful of what will happen if they go out just to get a pint of milk."

Weed

A cafe worker added: "Teens sit outside here smoking weed and they don't seem to care. They kick footballs at our window during the day and get abusive when we tell them off."

However, other residents were surprised to hear of the incident.

Eddie Burchmore, 73, from Blackbush Spring, Harlow, said: "It's most unusual, it's a quiet area. There was some trouble a while back involving a woman."

Marcus Hendricks, 82, added: "There was a lot of police and a big tent up. People are saying there had been a stabbing."

"I was a newsagent at The Stow for years and I don't see this problem getting any better."

Burnt Mill Academy

BURNT Mill Academy is celebrating after an impressive 83 per cent of its students gained top marks in both their English and mathematics GCSE exams.

As students collected their results from this summer's exams, it was revealed the majority had scored A* to C grades in the core subjects, despite a national dip in results.

The number of students achieving A* and A grades also leapt this year to 66.3 per cent, compared to 42 per cent last year.

Overall last year, a total of 80 per cent of Burnt Mill students achieved five or more A* to C grades including English and maths – this year that figure had upped to 81 per cent.

Top

Among the top students were Lauren Nicholson with five A* grades and six A grades and Lucy Palmer with four A* grades and seven A grades.

Headteacher John Blaney said: "Even amid the curriculum changes that have taken place, these results prove great teaching is what impacts most."

"It really is an amazing achievement. Congratulations to them all."

Mentors at the academy had to physically collect Tim Amariyllis from home kicking and screaming in Year 7.

Having been a school refuser at primary school, he simply refused to willingly attend secondary school.

But, bit by bit, the mentors helped Tim, 16, to feel comfortable about being at school – and he

GOT THERE IN THE END: Tim Amariyllis and his mum Wendy repaid their efforts by collecting three A grades and two Bs in his GCSE results.

He said: "I just hated school back then. It bored me and hated being around people; I just wanted to be at home.

"Eventually, I realised I had to do it. I am overwhelmed at the results I have got today."

St Nicholas School, Old Harlow

FLYING TRIO: These three leaping learners from Saint Nicholas School are delighted with their results

STUDENTS at Saint Nicholas School in Old Harlow have achieved outstanding results in their GCSEs this year.

Overall, there was an 83 per cent pass rate for those recording at least five GCSEs at grade C and above. Almost a third of all examinations were graded A* or A, and more than 60 per cent of pupils gained eight or more A*-C grades.

Students achieved highly in English and mathematics with more than three-quarters of all students gaining a grade C or above. art, biology, drama, geography, ICT, Latin, music, physics, psychology and Spanish all recorded 100 per cent pass rates at grade C or above.

Deserve

Pupils who deserve a particular mention are Emillie Mitchell who was awarded eight A* and 3 A grades, Emily Camp who gained seven A* and four A grades and Macy Glen who achieved one A*, 9 A and one B grade.

Headmaster Keith Knight said:

"I am delighted with the strength of our results. The approach of the school is to ensure that all students take a broad and balanced academic GCSE curriculum and not "GCSE equivalent" qualifications. As a broadly non-selective entry school we are rightly proud of our students' successes, which are once more a tribute to our dedicated parents, staff and especially our students who have a positive attitude to work and are prepared to give all that it takes to be successful."

Round-up of all our schools and academy grades

St Mark's West Essex Catholic School

ST MARK'S West Essex Catholic School, in Tripton Road, Harlow, bucked a national trend to record impressive GCSE results.

Head teacher Elaine Heaphy, said hard work and commitment was to thank for 60 per cent of students achieving the benchmark target.

She said: "I am delighted the hard work of our Year 11 pupils and their teachers has been rewarded."

"I look forward to welcoming this year group of pupils back, along with many new pupils, into our sixth form for the new academic year."

Achieved

She added: "The national figure has gone down, but we have achieved at least 60 per cent with some results still coming in."

Jamie Knudsen, 16, who got eight A's, one A and one B grade, said: "I'm very happy. It has been a long wait but it has been well worth it."

WE'RE HAPPY: This pair are well-pleased with their results

His friend Clive Tsungu said he was disappointed despite attaining seven A's, one A, one C and one D grade which was in English language.

The 16-year-old only moved to Britain two years ago and started learning English when he began at St Mark's. He said: "I am disappointed I got a D in English."

DELIGHTED WITH THE OUTCOME: Taylah Andrews-Clark, Sarah Van der Lith, Halle Andrews-Clark, Emmeline Tsang, Marco Pedata and Chloe Cox with their results

Mark Hall Academy

IMPRESSIVE GCSE results for Mark Hall Academy are the latest step in a remarkable turnaround for a once failing school.

An improved 48 per cent of pupils reached the benchmark five GCSE passes with an A* to C grade, including mathematics and English. This was up from 45 per cent last year.

The Academy in First Avenue, Harlow, recorded a positive 0.09 rate of improvement in the Government's new Progress 8 system.

This shows that a majority of students made above target progress from Year 6 SAT scores to Year 11 GCSEs.

Principal Corinne Franceschi said: "I took on a failing school

GLEE TIME: Once failing Mark Hall Academy has turned around that was 17th from bottom in the national performance league tables three years ago. So to have maintained our upward trajectory and to have been given a 'Good with outstanding behaviour' Ofsted grading a few months ago is no mean feat.

"I am proud of our students and our hard-working team of staff. I am delighted that all of our students have secured further education places, training or jobs and that we have helped to secure successful pathways for them."

Notably three students who joined the school from abroad less than two years ago all passed exams.

These were Dmitris Nespors, who joined in December 2015, speaking little English, and achieved one A*, one D, five Es and a C in mathematics.

Masuma Amanat joined from Italy and achieved one A*, one A, two Bs, and five Cs.

Annmarija Rakisa, who joined speaking no English, achieved one B, one C, two Ds, three Es and two Fs.

pupils from Year 6 to Year 11. This result will be announced in September. "Our progress will be fine, they have all made the progress they have been expected to make," he added.

Student Kira Nurse said: "I was nervous but the results are better than I expected." The 16-year-old will study A levels at The Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth.

Passmores Academy

GCSE results at Passmores Academy rose by more than 15 per cent despite national raising of grade boundaries.

Vic Goddard, principal of the Traces Road secondary, congratulated the achievements of his students with the top performing invited in 15 minutes early.

"It has been a really strong year and the results are not a surprise," he said.

"We always bring in the top ten or 12 kids to give them a chance to celebrate their results."

Passmores recorded 64.62 per cent of students attaining five A*-C grades compared to 49.16 per cent last year.

Mr Goddard said the most important statistic is the Progress 8 result, a new Government system which grades schools based on the improvement made by

Stewards Academy

STEWARDS Academy students celebrated GCSE success this year achieving some outstanding individual results. Overall 55 per cent of pupils achieved A*-C in English and mathematics, which is up on last year.

The top ten students achieved 90 A*-A grades between them.

Among the notable successes Becky Dodd with seven A* grades, three A grades and an exceptional result in further mathematics where she attained the top grade possible.

Rebecca Lever lived up to her Harlow Achievement Award

WHAT A LOT WE'VE GOT: Stewards Academy students and results attaining A*-C grades in all her subjects.

Headteacher Rhonda Murthar said: "Considering how stringent the new Government targets are for secondary school pupils with regard to their progress over time we were delighted to exceed our own challenging target and are very likely to be above the national figure.

"As always staff have worked hard to support pupils towards achieving their goals."

FOXY LADIES: Are You Experienced? invited women onto the stage for a famous Jimi Hendrix song

'Keeping live

LINKFEST: Organisers delighted with

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

HUGE crowds braved unpredictable weather to enjoy LinkFest's fifth anniversary in Harlow Town Park.

Organisers gathered a stellar line-up of cover and tribute bands at the park's bandstand on Sunday afternoon to celebrate the birthday.

Are You Experienced?, a Jimi Hendrix tribute, topped the bill while local choir Funky Voices performed for the first time as musicians from many genres were well received.

This was the second and final LinkFest of the year, with a previous event having been staged on July 24.

"What a day it was," said festival co-ordinator Jamie Pring.

"Up and down weather for the earlier part made us think the audience might not have been as big, but we were wrong.

"I estimate we weren't far short of July's attendance even though the weather was a bit unpredictable, so we were really happy."

Best ever

The July event was considered the best ever by organisers after rain-hit events in 2015 led to lower attendances and led organisers to drop the number of Sunday festivals from three to two.

Despite limited finances, organisers were able to lure some top names from the local scene including Anthem and Seven Dial Circus.

Mr Pring continued: "Musically we started with ReMark then Steve Forward before Funky Voices took to the stage. Filling the whole stage, they went through their set getting the audience involved and generally having a great time. They even did an encore, the audience liked them so much.

"Seven Dial Circus then turned the volume up a bit with Elliot Porter also doing a couple of slots with his own music. Regulars Anthem proved again what great showmen they are and had the crowd singing along as their Anthem choir."

"Cadence, fronted by Michelle Mitchell, set the stage alight with a fantastic set of songs really showing the crowd what a brilliant vocalist she is but also getting her boys in the band to sing a bit too."

Are You Experienced is one of the biggest acts to ever play LinkFest, with leader John Campbell having earned great praise for his guitar-playing skills and renditions of Jimi Hendrix classics.

turnout as 'Hendrix' gets crowd going

Mr Pring said the crowd enjoyed dancing to the legendary rock star's greatest hits.

"It was a brilliant tribute that had other performers from the day watching as he went through a catalogue of Hendrix tracks that kept the crowd rocking," he said.

"During Foxy Lady he even invited a whole bunch of female audience members to join him on stage dancing whilst he was performing.

"From playing the guitar behind his head to the iconic setting the guitar on fire it was an awesome performance that left the crowd wanting more."

Mr Pring added: "Special mention goes to our stewards on the day who made sure everyone had enough bags for their rubbish all day long and were brilliant at the end helping us clear the park up.

"Huge thanks to the GPCA again for their support along with Places for People and Bristol Street Harlow, Belvoir and all our other sponsors who make the event possible.

"We hope everyone has enjoyed LinkFest this summer and we hope the council will allow us back next year and support us so we can keep live music alive in Harlow Town Park."

It's time to chop down dead trees

Sir, Councillor Durcan has walked straight past the point of my letter (Star, August 18) which was to call attention to the immediate problem of acute embarrassment when volunteer guides from The Friends of Harlow Sculpture Collection & The Gibberd Gallery are showing paying visitors around the collection in the town centre.

Think what you like about the Water Gardens, but our sculptures there are complemented by this well-maintained site, a stark contrast with the situation north of the library.

Could we not just cut down the dead trees in the Market Square – the pots minus the trees are acceptable for the time being.

Maybe our maligned tree gang could do the job.

Your anonymous correspondent (Star, August 25) is right to point out the poor state of our green spaces and woodland. The shame that the volunteer guides from F of HSC & GG endure in the town centre extends town wide as we seek to impress visitors to Harlow.

However, hiding behind the cloak of anonymity when criticising skilled workers doing their best is unfair to say the least.

Finally, can I just add my thoughts regarding the despoiling of Latton Common. At the time of writing the thousands of cubic metres of imported soil are still in place on the common. Did Harlow Council consider the possibility that this imported material – origins unknown – might contain alien plant life? Alien to our historic common, that is? Did the council consult suitably qualified ecologists on this point?

Why did they spend so much of our scarce resources on transporting fill across Harlow when the native soil of the common could have been satisfactorily engineered to achieve the desired purposes as it did formerly?

What do the laws governing the care of historic common land have to say about this?

There has to be legal protection against such cavalier behaviour. I have to say that whilst secrecy surrounds this affair, mistrust and cynicism will flourish.

John Curry

Planners should look to future

Sir, I refer to the recent letters in your

Parking issue needs sorting

Sir, I wholeheartedly agree with Susan Doble's letter; we have similar problems in Sawbridgeworth with totally inconsiderate people parking vehicles wherever they like.

I initially complained to the local council about eight years ago. They eventually informed me that I needed to contact the non emergency police, as nothing positive was done.

I wrote recently to our local MP. I received a reply and a visit from the highways department.

The situation is still ongoing with vehicles blocking footpaths and preventing vehicle access to and from people's homes. Someone in authority should read rule 244 of the Highway Code then act on it.

R Adams

Name and address supplied paper regarding the present state of the town and the future of the town centre.

I, too, have lived in the town for over 60 years and remember when the town centre was a vibrant regional centre for shopping.

However, this was 30 years ago and the world has moved on. The future of shops in the town centre will be set by demand and commercial viability rather than planners deciding what we need.

I seldom buy anything myself in the town centre but do use the excellent facilities at the Leisure Zone and will certainly use the new cinema complex in the Harvey Centre, if it ever gets completed.

Like it or not the town centre is becoming more and more a centre for leisure rather than a centre for shopping. People go to places like Lakeside, Stratford, Bluewater for their major shopping purchases these days.

Most of my day to day shopping is done at the small neighbourhood centres like Bushfair. Bushfair has a doctors' surgery, pharmacy, bakers, excellent butchers, hairdressers, library, newsagents and, of course, the obligatory charity shops.

The Stow has Aldis and Staple Tye has Lidl's. These small shopping areas have undergone a renaissance in recent years. There must be lessons to be learnt here?

The new town centre south development and the Harvey Centre can be vibrant at the weekends, try finding a parking space in the Water Gardens on a Saturday, but the older northern part of the Town is well past its sell-by date and requires a major redevelopment and not necessary as a shopping area.

The town needs to look to the future not try and recreate the past.

More new towns should be built

Sir, Whilst we may all complain about this and that about the town, we must all recognise what a phenomenal success the building of the 14, or more, New Towns after WW2 has been.

At a time of crisis in London alone 900,000 slum houses were demolished and 2.5 million people rehoused at a time when resources and building materials were in exceedingly short supply.

The use of innovative building techniques and prefabricated units enabled houses to be built relatively quickly.

Housing is again in crisis.

Successive governments have utterly failed to build private and public housing and ironically sucked up to the baby boomers born at the end of the War (who more than most probably benefitted from post-war building) and the landed gentry by a neglect that has protected and vastly boosted property prices.

Add to this a succession of governments who, whilst preaching about the evil of going into debt, have dumped debts of between £9,000 to £60,000 on every young person going to college or university.

One suspected at the time this was originally to artificially and cynically hide numbers from unemployment figures and has resulted in millions being misled onto university courses that do not lead to jobs.

These young people have become the victims of poor governments and landlords demanding ridiculous rents, they are the renter and hidden homeless, staying at home with parents or on couches with friends, generation.

This is a national disgrace.

We are brainwashed to think we have no land upon which to build but only about 10 per cent of the country is under concrete: 90 per cent of the UK land is available for farming and open space.

If we were to take just two per cent of that space then it would contribute a roughly 20 per cent increase in land available for housing.

Let us stop the infilling that destroys the very nature of both our new and old towns.

New towns are needed, with new greener housing to both house our younger generation and replace the generally energy inefficient housing stock.

Community group in deal for Moot House

MARK Hall and Netteswell Community Association is celebrating purchasing the site of Moot House from Essex County Council.

The deal enables the association to secure grants to maintain the grade two listed building which is a wedding and function venue, as well as home to Moot House Players' theatre group.

A social club also meets at the venue, which is based in The Stow, in Harlow.

The community association has taken control of the venue and also the surrounding grounds.

County Hall announced last year that community weddings – formerly completed in the Harlow Registry Office – could now take place in the venue.

Derek Fenny, president of Mark Hall and Netteswell Community Association, said that new groups and activities were always welcome at the venue.

Help shape the future of health services

RESIDENTS are invited to two meetings in Harlow this month to shape the future of cardiovascular disease services.

West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) is holding the gatherings from 12.30pm to 5.30pm at the Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way on Thursday and Thursday, September 22.

The meetings allow anyone to go to meet clinicians and managers to discuss how services can be improved.

Dr Angus Henderson, West Essex CCG stroke lead, said: "Cardiovascular disease is a major issue in West Essex and as an illness that affects, or will affect, many of us it is important to get our services right."

Academy decision 'will not be rushed'

LET US CHOOSE: Pupils joined their parents to protest at the end of last term

Parents and staff are assured over plans for school

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AFTER protests from pupils, parents and teachers, a Harlow primary school will not be rushed into academy status.

Staff feared local authority-run Milwards Primary School and Nursery, in Paringdon Road, would be taken over by NET Academy Trust without any consultation.

But Brian Tarran, chair of governors, said that after meeting Tim Coulson, the regional schools commissioner, there was an assurance any decision-making process would be slowed down.

In a letter to parents, Mr Tarran wrote: "I'm pleased to report that we had a positive and productive discussion (with Dr Coulson).

"We talked about the strengths of the school, the areas we are working to improve, and the qualities we are looking for in any academy partner.

"Dr Coulson has since written to governors to confirm the governing body will be given time to continue discussions with academy sponsors so that we might reach our own decision on the most appropriate sponsor for Milwards."

Governors of the school are resigned to the local authority-run primary school becoming a government-funded academy after below-par 2015 exam results.

ults.

Milwards' leadership prefers the possibility of the school being controlled by the Harlow Inspirational Learning Trust, which manages The Henry Moore Primary School.

However, Mr Tarran said emails from Dr Coulson suggested Milwards would be under the control of NET which controls Abbotswood Primary Academy, Longwood Primary Academy, and Latton Green Primary Academy in the town.

This was without any formal discussion which left members of the school community feeling the move was a done deal, with the possibility of a change around before the autumn term.

After the last day of the summer term the whole school community protested with banners outside of the grounds.

After lobbying from town MP Robert Halfon, Dr Coulson backed down on initial plans to dissolve the school's governing body and said the decision-making process would be slowed down.

Mr Tarran added in the letter, received by parents over the summer holiday: "I would like to say heartfelt thanks to all the staff, parents and carers that worked so hard at the end of last term to help us reach this point.

"Parental support last year was clearly invaluable, but it will be even more crucial in the year ahead."

Quiz night will boost family's Florida holiday bid

A HARLOW family's dream to take their poorly daughter to Disney World is being supported with a quiz night.

All proceeds will be donated to Old Harlow couple Paul and Amanda Harkin, whose five-year-old daughter Carmela-Rose trip to Disney World in Florida.

The trivia test will be held at Park Inn, in Southern Way, Harlow, tomorrow from 8pm with tickets costing £5.

It is the latest event in their efforts to pay for the family, including Carmela's brother

Baxter, to make the trip. There is also a licensed bar, raffle and teams of up to six are allowed to enter.

Views are needed on tax support scheme

RESIDENTS are being encouraged by Harlow Council to have their say on how the Local Council Tax Support (LCTS) scheme is funded.

The scheme provides help to residents on low income with their council tax bill and provides support to 8,400 households, 5,000 of these are working age.

The LCTS scheme costs £6million pounds a year and continued reductions in Government funding may mean Harlow Council is forced to reduce the amount of support given.

Pensioners are not affected by reductions meaning any changes would only affect working-age residents.

Decisions about how to fund the LCTS scheme include varying the maximum level of help given under the scheme, as well as considering alternative funding options such as reducing the spending on other services, or increasing the council tax overall.

The public consultation is now open and will run until Wednesday, October 5 and is open to everyone in Harlow, including local support organisations.

The scheme will be reviewed and agreed at a full council meeting in December.

Daughter's ride to make dad proud

Lauren raising money for charity close to her heart

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW woman is making her dad proud by cycling 230 miles from London to Paris for charity.

Lauren Dodd, 26, of Parsonage Leys, is raising funds for Diabetes UK as her father Richard has the lifelong blood sugar level condition.

At her grand departure tomorrow, the account manager will join 28 other riders in Richmond, West London, and will ride to Brighton.

On Saturday the peloton will ride to Newhaven and then take a ferry to Dieppe in northern France before the ride continues and heads into Rouen. They ride the final 83 miles to Paris on Sunday.

After the group rolls into the finish slightly beyond the Eiffel Tower, Lauren will be greeted with a glass of champagne by Richard, her mother Lea, sister Abby and boyfriend Laurie Brown.

Lauren said: "My dad has had diabetes for years now and I wanted to do something for him. I thought about doing a skydive but I chose to do this cycle ride.

"There are 29 of us doing it but I have not met any of them before."

She continued: "I have started training this year and I have done hundreds of miles in training which has been tough.

"On the last day we will have to ride 83 miles but my family will be going to see me at the Eiffel Tower and that will keep me going.

"I am loving it and I will carry on with it afterwards."

Another motivator for Lauren will be the thought of making a difference to lives and she has already raised £2,530, to smash her own target of £2,000. This was helped by a coffee morning she held last week.

"People at work have been generous," she said.

"I am just very overwhelmed, I'm like a ball of emotion as I am really excited for it but also quite emotional."

Diabetes UK cares and campaigns for the 3.9 million people who have the condition nationwide, with the number expected to rise in coming years.

She added: "I have wanted to raise money for them for a long time, it's something that's really close to my heart."

To sponsor Lauren visit www.justgiving.com/fundraising/Lauren-Dodd7.

RANGERS CLUB

Micro lion identified

A TEAM from a university in Australia say they have identified a new tiny species of lion called the 'micro lion'.

The ancient creature was only the size of a squirrel and weighed as much as a bag of sugar.

The 'micro lion' was a marsupial - that means it carried its young around in its pouch, like a kangaroo.

It would have lived in trees around 18 million years ago.

It might have been cute but researchers say that it had sharp teeth, like knives, which could rip up smaller animals to eat.

This is the ninth marsupial lion that's been found, and it's the smallest so far.

Scientists have named the new species 'microleo attenboroughi'.

The first part is Latin for 'micro lion' (meaning tiny lion) and the second part is in honour of the famous naturalist and TV presenter, Sir David Attenborough.

SECRET JOKE: Jrog qa lae tug jrub lae phaff o yvab obq o fbazob? Shafg nvgu!

Uncertain future for restaurant as closures announced

QUESTION marks hang over the future of Harlow's Frankie and Benny's after the chain announced 14 closures nationwide.

Owners, The Restaurant Group, said 11 Chiquitos eateries would also be closing, which means a combined 500 jobs could be at risk.

It has not been confirmed which restaurants will be cut, but managers said underperforming stores would be the first to go after a difficult start to the financial year.

Frankie and Benny's, an Italian/

American brand, is based in The Water Gardens while the nearest Chiquitos, a Mexican restaurant, is in Hatfield.

The firm recently replaced Danny Breithaupt as chief executive with former Paddy Power boss Andy McCue after poor financial results.

Unsuccessful menu development, insufficient focus on value and poor operational execution were three reasons identified by the brand for the failure.

HAPPY TOGETHER: Peter and Yvonne Belsey with a photo of their wedding day

50 years together for grandparents

William Mata

william.mata@hertssexnews.co.uk

THE love of two grandparents is stronger than ever as they celebrate 50 years of being married.

Peter and Yvonne Belsey were only 23 and 19 when they tied the knot at a church in Enfield, in North London, and are well known in the Harlow community where they worked for many years.

On Saturday the pair enjoyed a family meal out with their daughter Sarah and twin sons Daryl and Marc before they came home to find friends had organised a surprise party.

Daryl, who is 30 and lives in Welwyn Garden City, said: "It was really lovely, they had a great time."

"I think the secret (to their enduring love) is that they keep busy, they are always doing things together."

The childhood sweethearts were introduced at Reeves paint factory in Edmonton in their teens and, following a brief courtship, got married on August 27, 1966.

After living in Enfield for a couple of years they moved to Fir Park in Harlow in the early 1980s and helped run family business Rod's Cycles and Toys in The Stow area of the town.

Peter, now 73, and Yvonne, 69, then started trading in party supplies with their shop Fun Time Fancy Dress, also initially in The Stow, before moving to larger premises at Staple Tye.

Yvonne then fulfilled one of her dreams by opening the salon Streaks Ahead in Old Harlow High Street before the pair retired. They now live in Nazeing.

Daryl said: "Eventually my parents retired but are still very much a part of Harlow's community."

"Now in his 70s my dad volunteers as a St John's community first responder for Harlow and my mum continues to be heavily involved with disabled charities as my brother Marc has Down's syndrome."

He added: "My parents are synonymous with Harlow residents and are known throughout the community."

A night at the opera

Harlow Playhouse is welcoming back the Russian State Opera for their latest production this month.

Julia Ignatowa, director of Amande Concerts who manage the company, said the Playhouse Square theatre is the perfect location for an early performance in their long tour of Carmen.

After performing Madame Butterfly in Harlow at the beginning of this year, Russian State Opera has chosen Carmen as a tried and tested crowd pleaser.

Tickets are on sale for the show which will be performed for one night only on Friday, September 9.

Set in Seville and sung in French, with English translation subtitles projected close to the stage, the plot centres on Don Jose, a naive soldier who is seduced by free-spirited femme fatale Carmen.

Jose abandons his childhood sweetheart and deserts his military duties in pursuit of her, yet loses her love.

"It is one of the most popular ones," said Julia. "Having something sung in French, rather than Italian, is refreshing as French is the most beautiful language."

She added: "This can be quite a challenge at times, but the core cast have done it some years ago and are fluent with it."

"They are very much looking forward to it, doing it in a new light and in different venues. They have started packing as the tour begins next week in Dunfermline."

With 34 performances in almost successive days, Carmen presents a gruelling and logistical challenge for all involved.

In addition the cast is backed by a 30-piece orchestra to bring to life the score written by Georges Bizet in 1875.

The full orchestra is a popular draw for Russian State Opera productions and keeps audiences coming back to Harlow Playhouse time and again to experience the full-on shows.

In the Toreador Song Carmen offers one of the best known operatic numbers of all time while many other songs are always well received by opera veterans and novices alike.

As with previous Russian State Opera productions in Harlow some of the children's parts have been specially cast from local actors, and six Harlow youngsters will come on board for Carmen.

They are aged from 10 years old and sourced from local choirs and drama schools.

Julia said: "The most important thing is for them to be confident and to enjoy themselves, but many of them sing very well. French is new for them."

Alexej Ignatow, producer of the production, said: "Our long-term project is to try hard to involve more local choirs, and to integrate them in our future productions."

"We are delighted to offer the opportunity to six local children to sing in Harlow."

"A number of the children have previously sung with the Royal Opera House, English National Opera, the National Youth Choir, Chapel Royal and in the West End."

The six local children taking part are: Benedict Cuthill, Salvador Glasgow, Sammie Stokes, Jamie Somerville, Petra Todd and Molly Williams.

Offering a social comment and an unconventional plotline, Carmen was controversial upon release but has since become one of the most loved and performed operas in the world.

Alexej said: "If you've never tried opera before, you will love this full orchestra experience."

"With fantastic colourful costumes, exquisite singing and those wonderful tunes that the audience will still be humming to themselves on their way home, making this a must see opera production for everyone."

"The music of Carmen has been widely acclaimed for its brilliance of melody, harmony, atmosphere and orchestration, and for the skill with which Bizet represented, musically, the emotions and suffering of his characters."

"The rich and colourful vigour of the gypsies' scenes will have you on the edge of your seat, and the vibrancy, enthusiasm and intensity of the performance will reverberate long after the final curtain."

Russian State Opera's sister company Russian State Ballet will be performing Swan Lake on Thursday, October 20.

Tickets cost £31, with a £1.50 booking fee. Early booking is advised and for more details visit www.playhouseharlow.com or call (01279) 431945.

Enjoy classic comedy from the bard in the open air

Shakespeare's most popular comedy A Midsummer Night's Dream will be performed in a beautiful outdoor setting.

The adventures of The Athenians, The Fairies and The Mechanicals will come to life at the Gibberd Garden in Marsh Lane Harlow, on Saturday, September 10 and Sunday, September 11.

The plot focuses around the wedding of Duke Theseus of Athens to Hippolyta, the Amazon queen.

However four sub-plots involving a love-saga, family struggle, a farce involving fairies and a play within a play all emerge to create a joyous and entertaining rout.

Gates open at 2pm and the performance begins an hour later with all audience members invited to bring a picnic, chairs and rugs.

■ Tickets cost £5.50. For bookings and more information call (01279) 442112 or visit www.waterlanetheatrecompany.co.uk

Side Saddles at Audley End into our past, which also leads us to reflect on our future." HOLLYWOOD COUPLE: Jesse Eisenberg as Bobby Dorfman and Kristen Stewart as Vonnie in Woody Allen's Cafe Society

Woody's back on form

CAFE SOCIETY (12A, 96 mins)
Writer-director Woody Allen might be heading towards his 81st birthday, but he shows no signs of slowing down with a steady output of one project per year. In Cafe Society, the filmmaker steps back in time to the rarefied glitz and glamour of 1930s Hollywood.

Bobby Dorfman (Jesse Eisenberg) works for his jeweller father in New York City, but he is unfulfilled and wants a life of excitement and adventure to rival his brother Ben (Corey Stoll), who is a gangster. So Bobby heads from the east coast to the west to work as an underling for his uncle Phil (Steve Carell), who is a high-ranking talent agent in Los Angeles. In order to help his nephew settle in, Phil asks his beautiful secretary Veronica aka Vonnie (Kristen Stewart), to look after Bobby.

Her kindness sparks an attraction for Bobby, but Vonnie politely rebuffs his advances because she already has a boyfriend.

As the relationship deepens, Bobby learns the truth about Vonnie's partner and he boldly issues an ultimatum that could send him scurrying back to New York City.

SAUSAGE PARTY (15, 89 mins)
You may never look at a basket of groceries the same way again after this foul-mouthed computer-animated comedy co-directed by Greg Tiernan and Conrad Vernon.

At Shopwell's supermarket, managed by Darren (voiced by Paul Rudd), the food and items that festoon the aisles begin each day with a rousing song, hoping they will be chosen by one of the customers and spirited to the "great beyond" outside of the sliding front doors.

Among these hopefuls is a sex-crazed sausage called Frank (Seth Rogen), who is desperate to lose his virginity with his hot dog roll girlfriend Brenda (Kristen Wigg) by slipping between her soft and inviting bun halves.

When a jar of unopened honey mustard (Danny McBride) is returned to Shopwell's by a customer, Frank, Brenda and their perishable chums discover that the outside world isn't the nirvana they always hoped.

In the search for answers, Frank journeys to the alcohol aisle to seek counsel from Firewater (Bill Hader).

Meanwhile, a lesbian taco called Teresa (Salma Hayek) makes lusty overtures to Brenda and a stunted sausage called Barry (Michael Cera) discovers first-hand the horrors that lurk beyond the checkout tills.

MORGAN (15, 92 mins)

In a top secret facility located far from prying eyes, a group of scientists led by Dr Simon Ziegler (Toby Jones) create a superhuman child called Morgan in the laboratory by tampering with the laws of nature.

Their creation grows so quickly, she is talking and walking after just one month.

As a young adult, Morgan (Anya Taylor-Joy), is both an object of fear and wonder to the scientists, who include Dr Lui Cheng (Michelle Yeoh), Dr Amy Menser (Rose Leslie), Dr Kathy Grieff (Jennifer Jason Leigh) and Dr Alan Shapiro (Paul Giamatti).

When Morgan descends into a rage and inflicts severe damage using her heightened strength, corporate troubleshooter Lee Weathers (Kate Mara) investigates as a matter of urgency.

She learns about the genesis of the Morgan project and must make a judgement call about whether to terminate the young woman before she can escape into the outside world and wreak havoc on an unimaginable scale.

BACK ON THE STREETS:
Noel Clarke as Sam in
Brotherhood

Too long on the streets for Noel

Third time's no charm for director, writer and actor Noel Clarke as he concludes his streetwise London-set trilogy, which began 10 years ago with Kidulthood and continued forlornly two years later with Adulthood.

The final chapter is self-indulgent and lacks dramatic momentum, with a sluggish running time that feels considerably longer than 105 minutes.

The youthful swagger and urgency of earlier pictures has completely evaporated from Brotherhood, which returns to

Brotherhood

DRAMA: (15) 105 mins

Director: Noel Clarke

Starring: Noel Clarke, Shanika Warren-Markland, Arnold Oceng, Cornell John, Jaza Maza, Olivia Chenery, Tonia Sotiropoulou

the unforgiving streets of the capital in the company of a beleaguered father, who is trying to break the cycle of violence that landed him in prison.

Clarke's penchant for spewing 20 words of dialogue when five will suffice is still in evidence and at least one scene teeters on the brink of risibility for its tearful earnestness.

The script gives pitifully short shrift to the female characters, who are two-dimensional and repeatedly objectified.

Clarke relishes superfluous shots of sex workers strutting around naked or performing degrading acts.

Were it not for a memorable supporting turn from Arnold Oceng and an amusing running gag about the desirability of a supermarket reward card, this would be an interminable slog from beginning to laughable end.

Sam Peel (Clarke) has pieced his life back together following his spell behind bars with the help of his mother (Adjoa Andoh), lawyer girlfriend Kayla (Shanika Warren-Markland) and their two children.

Ghosts of the past return to haunt the former jailbird when gun-toting thugs shoot his brother and leave behind a threatening message that reads WE'RE NOT DONE.

It transpires that old adversary Uncle Curtis (Cornell John) and local gangland leader Daley (Jason Maza) are determined to lure Sam back to the dark side by threatening the safety of his loved ones.

A femme fatale called Janette (Tonia Sotiropoulou) tests Sam's loyalty, while Daley unleashes his underlings including the menacing Hugs (Leeshon Alexander) and whip-smart Poppy (Rosa Caduri).

Faced with losing everything, Sam feels he has no choice but to revert to threats and intimidation to survive, and he calls upon wisecracking best friend Henry (Oceng) as his brother in dire straits.

Brotherhood is one slice of gritty urban angst too far for Clarke.

The leading man puts himself through an emotional wringer without once tugging our heartstrings.

John's supporting turn as the vengeance-seeking antagonist is one wide-eyed snarl short of thigh-slapping pantomime villain.

Explosions of violence don't always serve the ramshackle narrative and any pertinent moral conundrums about meeting force with greater force are lost amidst the navel-gazing and gratuitous nudity.

HOME ENTERTAINMENT

HEROES AT WAR: Captain America: Civil War

Captain America: Civil War

DVD/Blu-ray/On Demand

A year has passed since the events of Avengers: Age of Ultron and the US Secretary of State Thaddeus Ross (William Hurt) insists on the introduction of legislation to control the superheroes. Tony Stark, aka Iron Man (Robert Downey Jr), reluctantly submits but Steve Rogers, aka Captain America (Chris Evans), refuses to sign, fearful of the consequences of the Avengers relinquishing their independence. The gulf between Stark and Rogers forces the remaining Avengers to take sides. A battle royale between the two factions unfolds just as a diabolical new enemy, Baron Zemo (Daniel Bruhl), threatens mankind. Captain America: Civil War is a bombastic thrill ride that pits former allies against each other in a series of dizzying showdowns that cleave apart the Marvel Comics universe.

Scriptwriters Christopher Markus and Stephen McFeely repeatedly inhabit the blurred lines between heroism and villainy, examining the moral conundrums faced by superpowered warriors who have pledged to protect the innocent from the righteous crossfire. Alas, no one emerges unscathed from the melee. Evans and Downey Jr puff out their chests for supremacy in every lavish frame while directors Joe and Anthony Russo choreograph destruction on a grand scale, including an adrenaline-pumping motorcycle chase on the rubble-strewn streets of Berlin. A protracted sequence involving Stark, a nerdy Peter Parker (Tom Holland) and Aunt May (Marisa Tomei) sows seeds of hope that next year's reboot, Spider-Man: Homecoming, might revitalise the webslinging vigilante with whip-smart humour. A three-disc box set comprising The First Avenger, The Winter Soldier and Civil War is also available.

FOOD&DRINK

Honest food

Healthy-eating hero and rising culinary star Natasha Corrett tells Gemma Dunn her food is all about the preparation

If you should ever have any doubts over the power of prep, speak to green-eating guru – and Honestly Healthy founder – Natasha Corrett.

“By failing to prepare, you are preparing to fail,” she muses proudly. “It’s as simple as that. And I have the famous (Benjamin Franklin) quote at the front of my cookbook so its the first thing you see.”

Discussing her latest title, Honestly Healthy In A Hurry, the 33-year-old explains: “I wanted to create something that was method [based]. Working in kitchens, I realised that we do everything mise en place, so we prep and cook it all [in advance], and just pull the dish together at the last minute.”

Extending the same approach to our day-to-day lives – putting in some prep and planning early – will help keep us on track with our healthy cooking, she says.

“I know if I get home from work and I’m tired, I am going to order a takeaway. I’m exactly the same as everyone else, so unless I have that food in my fridge, I’m not going to do it.

“Just put your favourite programme on and dance around your kitchen!” she adds.

Here are some recipes from Corrett’s latest book to try now...

Sweet Potato Falafels

MAKES 16

Ingredients

340g roasted sweet potato (500g raw sweet potato, roasted whole)
 ½ clove garlic, grated
 ¼tsp smoked paprika
 A pinch of Himalayan pink salt
 ½tsp sunflower oil
 20g coriander, roughly chopped
 25g quinoa flour
 polenta, for dusting
For the yoghurt dip:
 180g goat’s milk or dairy-free yoghurt
 ¼ clove garlic, grated
 Zest of 1 lemon
 10g mint, chopped
 A pinch of Himalayan pink salt

For the tomato salsa:

180g baby tomatoes, sliced
 1tbsp olive oil
 A pinch of Himalayan pink salt

Method

First, roast the sweet potatoes (you can even do this in advance). Preheat the oven to 180C/160C fan/gas mark 4. Drizzle the sweet potatoes with sunflower oil, add a sprinkle of salt, then roast in the oven for 25-40 minutes until soft. Allow to cool.

When ready to make the full dish, again, preheat the oven to 180C/160C fan/gas mark 4.

Scoop out the flesh of the cooled roasted sweet potato into a food processor.

Grate the garlic into the processor and add the paprika, salt and sunflower oil and pulse until smooth. Add the coriander and pulse again. Stir in the quinoa flour.

Divide the mixture into 16 equal pieces and roll into balls. It is a wet mixture, but don’t worry: roll them in the polenta and they will hold their shape perfectly. Bake

HEALTHY APPROACH:
 Natasha Corrett at the launch of her book in the oven for 25 minutes until crisp on the outside.

Combine the ingredients for the yoghurt dip and the tomato salsa in separate bowls. Serve the falafels with a mixed leaf salad and a gluten-free wrap, adding some dressing and salsa.

Ten-Minute Turmeric Quinoa Risotto

SERVES 2

Ingredients

½ white onion, diced
 2 cloves garlic, finely sliced

5cm piece of fresh turmeric, grated, or 1tbsp ground turmeric
 ½ tsp fennel seeds
 1tbsp sunflower oil
 1tbsp vegetable bouillon powder
 180g cherry tomatoes, cut in half
 170g roasted sweet potato (250g raw sweet potato, peeled and roughly chopped)
 190g precooked quinoa (100g uncooked quinoa)
 A generous pinch of Himalayan pink salt
 A generous pinch of freshly ground black pepper

30g hard goat’s cheese or Pecorino, grated, or 2tbsp nutritional yeast

Juice and zest of ½ lemon

Method

Put the onion, garlic, turmeric, fennel seeds and sunflower oil into a wide-bottomed frying pan and saute for two minutes until soft. The wider the pan, the quicker the risotto will cook.

Add 250ml water and the vegetable bouillon powder and simmer for a minute before adding the tomatoes.

Cover and continue to heat for a further four minutes until the tomatoes start to break down.

Add the roasted sweet potato to the pan with a further 125ml water (you can follow the instructions in the previous recipe for roasting your sweet potatoes in advance, except that this time you’ll need to chop them too). Use the back of your spoon or spatula to break down any larger bits of tomato or sweet potato – watch out for splashes. You want to make sure that it’s really smooth and completely break down any lumps. Once it is a lovely thick mixture, add a final 125ml water and the quinoa and stir through.

Add the salt and pepper and leave on the heat for a further three minutes or until you get a thick, risotto-like texture. Stir through the grated cheese (or nutritional yeast), lemon zest and juice and serve nice and hot.

■ Honestly Healthy In A Hurry by Natasha Corrett is published by Hodder & Stoughton, priced £25.

Wish you were here?

Pink Floyd may still be going strong after 52 years but without the talents of keyboardist Rick Wright, who died from lung cancer in 2008 aged 65, some believe the band will never be the same.

At the time of his death his fellow bandmates David Gilmour and Nick Mason paid tribute to his abilities, saying Wright's keyboard playing "was the sound that knitted it all together".

But Wright was the least known of this global super-group, whose albums such as The Dark Side of the Moon and The Final Cut are still popular today. He was studious and quiet but was also the most accomplished musician of the group and contributed both his keyboard and arranging skills for several famous Pink Floyd tracks including Shine On You Crazy Diamond.

Wright left the band in 1979, rejoining as a session musician in 1985 and then full time again in 1994, co-writing five songs for the album The Division Bell.

During his later life, after his third marriage, Wright bought a house in France where he established a recording studio where, and at the time of his death, he was working on a new solo project.

That house, in the Provençal village of Le Rouret 15 miles from Nice on the Cote d'Azur, is now for sale. It's a five-bedroom former olive press with 1.3 acres of private gardens and grounds, a pool, garage for three cars and features heavy doors, large fireplaces and original stone work throughout.

Wright extended the house with an annexe and built a room by the pool that he used as a studio, where he recorded his solo album Broken China.

"The house has welcomed many musical legends as guests over the years and it was a very special place for Wright and his family, a treasured haven with many happy memories and a place to escape the world," says Hamish Hamilton of MJQ.co.uk, which is selling the property.

"It's now time for a new owner to experience the tranquility and joy of this special place."

Lineker's old barn isn't pants

AFTER Gary Lineker's former club Leicester City won the Premier League the 55-year-old fulfilled his promise to present the first Match of the Day of the new season in just his underpants.

Critics of Lineker on Twitter wondered if the 'undies' he had promised to wear were in fact football shorts and that he only appeared in pants during the early minutes of the studio discussion, later donning more modest attire.

Lineker enjoyed an illustrious career in football before he took to television. This included stints first at Leicester City then Everton, Barcelona and Tottenham Hotspur.

Such a long and successful career also has its upsides, even if he has to flash his undies occasionally; Lineker lives in a substantial mansion in Barnes, south west London. But his taste for property was not always so upmarket.

This house near Preston in Lancashire was his home while he played at Everton during the mid-1980s. The Barn on Moss Hey Lane was a half-hour drive from Everton's then training ground in Bellefield. The property has five bedrooms, three reception rooms and views over rolling countryside.

Agent Mair Bleas of local agent Wainwright & Edwards (01772 814863) says the property is an architect-designed barn conversion and could be extended to create a granny flat. It is for sale at £599,950.

What people think during viewings

IF YOU'RE selling your property at the moment and want to know what people are thinking as they tour your home, then research just out can hopefully give you a steer:

More than a thousand people all over the UK were asked about their attitudes and behaviour when buying a home, and several unusual regional variations were uncovered, says agent easyProperty.com.

In the North West, one in ten house hunters put an offer in without even viewing the property while a third of West Midlands buyers fall in love with a house after only seeing its exterior.

Watch out if you're selling a home in the East Midlands, though. The research reveals that its house hunters are the fussiest, while a third of Welsh buyers judge a property on the surrounding neighbourhood.

The keenest buyers are in the

Would this put you off? The vendor of this property decided to insert a glass wall between their bedroom and lounge.

South West where one in eight make an offer before leaving a viewing, while a quarter of those in Yorkshire, Humber and the North East are unlikely to make a bid on a home for sale if they don't like the vendors.

East Anglians are the most trusting, the research shows. Only 16% of home buyers in the region bother to explore a local area or find out local crime rates before making an offer.

And predictably, London buyers are the most interiors obsessed. A third of them 'mentally redecorate' a property during the first viewing. EasyProperty also asked people what turns them off about a property the most.

These include detecting a 'bad vibe', too many fast food and charity shops nearby, and too many fast food outlets in the neighbourhood.

By John Murdoch

THE new Ford Focus RS is not just a hot hatch – it is a four-wheel-drive 345bhp monster that delivers supercar pace and power for family car money.

It is a real bargain and drives right to the top of the hot hatch tree.

Pound for pound few cars on the road can match it and it really is a supercar you can use every day.

It looks great, sounds fabulous as well as being affordable and is almost as practical as any other Focus.

It is well built and has bags of kit and its turbocharged engine packs huge punch and makes all the right noises.

The only downside is that you will have so much fun it could do serious harm to your licence and fuel bill.

This is the third Focus to sport the RS badge and it is powered by the same 2.3-litre EcoBoost engine that features in the company's Mustang muscle car, but it has been tuned even further to deliver even more power.

With 345bhp on tap the fastest ever RS model sprints to 62mph in just 4.7 seconds and thunders on to an impressive 165mph.

And thanks to its clever four-wheel drive system you can keep it in a straight line.

It looks mean from any angle and other motorists are instantly aware that the RS is no ordinary Focus.

It stands out thanks to a huge grille with matt black surround, a front splitter, muscular and bulging wheel arches and a substantial tailgate spoiler that helps to keep it glued to the road.

Large 19-inch alloy wheels and twin tailpipes help to create a rally car look but all the design features have purpose.

The interior is also pretty impressive with body-hugging Recaro sports seats, a new flat-bottomed steering wheel, alloy pedals and the RS blue colour scheme.

You also get an extra bank of gauges and Ford's SYNC connectivity system which provides access to audio, sat nav, climate control and mobile phones via voice control or the eight-inch colour touchscreen and the Sony 10-speaker sound system.

Wedge into the Recaro seats you can then select from a number of drive modes. These include Normal and Sport as well as Track and Drift which are designed to turn the fun up another notch.

If on the other hand you are not in the mood, the RS will cope with everyday motoring. Yes the ride is firm but it is not harsh enough to make you wish you had settled for a lesser Focus.

The RS will always attract attention because of its macho looks and distinctive soundtrack but it is happy enough to go about its business within the speed limits.

But when you do decide to have some fun it is magnificent.

Choose your drive mode and then make full use of the slick six-speed manual gearbox to push it to your limit.

If you really want a quick getaway, there is a launch control button to help you manage it. You would need to be on a track day to fully appreciate all of the driving modes and that is where you will need to go if you really want to play hard safely.

Otherwise you will just have to enjoy the fantastic performance, steering and braking as best you can on normal roads.

If you behave yourself you still won't get near the claimed 36.7mpg figure but I averaged just under 28mpg which is not bad for a car of this substance.

Costing from £31,000 the RS is magnificent value for money and has no serious rivals at that price. You can add a luxury pack for another £1,000 and most buyers will opt to include it as well as the stunning Nitrous Blue colour scheme.

This is the best RS yet and you would have to spend considerably more cash to find a worthy alternative.

The gripping story of Brian Reader, Britain's most prolific, old-school crook

Branded 'The Master' and 'a Gentleman Thief' Brian is a true British crime character. Gang insiders, family, friends and detectives talk for the first time about Reader's six-decade career. The authors reveal the Hatton Garden gang's links to an unsolved gangland murder, bent cops, police supergrasses and an alleged establishment cover-up. The book also includes new details about Basil, dubbed 'The Ghost' after he became the only gang member to escape justice.

Public Notices

Essex County Council

(Various Roads, District of Harlow)

(Temporary Prohibition of Traffic) (No.3) Order 2016

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council intends, not less than seven days from the date of this notice, to make the above Order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: To temporarily close the various lengths of road in the District of Harlow as specified:

Road Name	Descriptions	Alternative Route	Phase 1 dates
Brooklane Field, Harlow	From its junction with Brooklane Field for a distance of 170 metres in an easterly direction to end of road. Including side roads.	No diversion route available	12/09/2016 - 12/09/2016
Brooklane Field/ Spinning Wheel Mead, Harlow	From its junction with A1169 Southern Way for a distance of 500 metres in a south westerly direction to Trotters Road. Including side roads.	A1169 Southern Way, Trotters Road and vice versa	12/09/2016 - 15/09/2016
Upper Mealines, Harlow	From its junction with Latton Common Road for a distance of 350 metres in an easterly direction to Trotters Road	Latton Common Road, Trotters Road and vice versa	15/09/2016 - 16/09/2016

The works being undertaken will be completed in phases. The first phase is programmed to commence on the dates shown above between the hours of 09:00h and 17:00h. The roads will be closed to facilitate each phase and then re-opened to the public. Access will be maintained for pedestrians and emergency services. Diversion routes will be signed at each location and residents will be informed of the dates of each phase via letter / leaflet drop and advanced warning signs on the road. Information will also be available on <http://roadworks.org/>

Phase One

Pre-surface patching works. These works comprise filling any surface defects and raising/replacing worn iron works (manhole covers and gullies) as well as removal of cat's eyes if present.

Phase Two

Surface dressing. The process entails spraying the road with bitumen and covering it with granite chippings, after which the road is then rolled, which along with the action of the traffic, embeds the chippings into the surface. The road will be swept within 48 hours and after 7 days. The bitumen part of the surface dressing as well as securing the chippings to the existing surface will seal the old road surface, thus preventing the ingress of water which causes deterioration of the road surface and will improve skid resistance.

Phase Three

- Reinstatement of white lines if required. Reinstatement of any road markings.
- Reinstatement of any road studs.

For all enquiries please contact our Contact Centre on 0345 603 7631

The Order will come into effect on 12 September 2016 and may continue in force for 18 months or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

Liz Burr, Head of Network Management, County Hall, Chelmsford

Dated: 1 September 2016

Defeat leaves Harlow still in relegation mix

Fives earn points to set up grandstand finish at bottom

Essex Cricket League
Division One

Harlow 210
Fives and Heronians 211-9
Fives won by one wicket

HARLOW Cricket Club lost to Fives & Heronians on Saturday to leave both clubs still battling it out to avoid relegation from Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League Division One.

While Harlow are still 16 points away from the drop zone, they missed the opportunity to pull themselves right away with defeat in a thrilling match.

No sooner had Harlow won the toss and elected to bat than Alan Jones (0) had his off stump flattened by Greg Summers.

Hafiz Yawar Afzal (13) sought to impose himself on the game with a couple of boundaries but was also dismissed by Summers, a mistimed pull shot ballooning to square-leg.

Carried

The loss of Rehman Ahmed (16), straight after hitting consecutive boundaries, left Harlow in disarray at 53-3 in the 14th over.

Not for the first time this season Ahmed Khawaja carried the Harlow innings, looking in fine form as he batted with intelligence and controlled aggression to guide the visitors towards respectability, 200 runs and maximum batting points.

It was only when Harlow got near this target that Khawaja went truly on the offensive.

He rounded off a magnificent innings of 118 by hitting 21 runs in five balls.

Khawaja was offered good support by Ubaid Ur Rehman Kiani (29) until he was dismissed by Sarfaraz Ahmed, with the Fives left arm leg-spinner going on to take five wickets.

Nicky Baxter (12) was the only other batsman to reach double figures as Harlow were dismissed for 210.

It was initially a strangely lacklustre performance in the field by Harlow, a distinct lack of energy or purpose, although Mitch Howarde and Baxter each grabbed a wicket to leave Fives on 43-2 after ten overs.

SO CLOSE: Nicky Baxter almost bowled Harlow to victory in a tight game on Saturday

Thereafter, Gary Norris (72) and Fahad Iqbal (71) put together a largely untroubled partnership of 120 that meant Fives were simply cruising to victory.

But the visitors imploded, as Hafiz dismissed Iqbal before Zabi Hakimi ran out Norris and then dismissed Jake Poulter (2).

Wickets kept tumbling as a catch on the long-on boundary by Jake Messenger off the bowling of Ubaid, another run out and two more wickets from Baxter (3-23) added to the mayhem.

Fives had their last pair at the crease and still needed 17 runs for victory with Harlow showing plenty of intensity in the field.

The bowling was tight and were conceding just two or three runs an over.

With six needed in the final over Ahmed (11 not out) got a thick outside edge on to a ball from Baxter that went for four.

A single on the penultimate ball of the game saw Fives win what had become a desperately tight game.

Harlow are currently in sixth place in the league and could finish on more than 200 points, but the threat of relegation still looms.

It could be an interesting final day of the season next Saturday with Harlow facing Upminster, the league champions.

The second team took a step closer to promotion with a superb win against Fives II.

Fives opener Neil Brathwaite scored 132 not out as they posted 266-4, however that was chased down with Luke Monger (69) and the prolific Nathan Khelawon (79) getting most of the runs.

ROAR: BATTS won their opener

BATTS get season off to flyer in Wales

TABLE TENNIS: The BATTS first team showed they mean business with a superb 7-1 victory against Cardiff City in the opening match of the Premier British League.

Cardiff had finished only one point behind the Harlow club at the end of last season and BATTS had failed to beat them in either of the two meetings.

However, Helshan Weerasinghe took on Daniel O'Connell, the top ranked player in Wales, and saw him off by winning in straight sets.

Michael Tauber faced Ashley Robinson and comfortably won, again without dropping a set.

The BATTS side continued to dominate their Welsh opponents and took the overall win without much trouble.

That marked a great start to the season for the team who will have their first home game on September 24.

BATTS will welcome Fusion to the Norman Booth Centre, Elderfield, who lost their opening match.

Doors open at 1pm with entry free.

Harlow set for 'Hockey Fest'

HOCKEY: Harlow Hockey Club are gearing up for the start of their season this month with their 'Hockey Fest' evening.

The aim of the night will be to recruit new members into the club.

'Hockey Fest' is a national programme run by England Hockey and wants to get new players and those wishing to return to the sport involved.

Men and women are welcome, regardless of skill level or previous playing experience and is open to all ages above 14.

Harlow will be holding their 'Hockey Fest' evening on Thursday, September 8 at Leventhorpe School from 8-9.30pm.

Duo return to join Leopards

BASKETBALL: Levett Essex Leopards have re-signed two more of last season's squad with Jamie Hayes and Brian Nguru both returning.

Big Cats' coach Steve Ogunjimi was delighted to have the forward and guard back in his side.

He said: "I am very happy to have secured Jamie and Brian for the upcoming season."

"They were both players that really did what I asked of them on the court and brought some great energy when needed in minimal minutes."

Hawks held by stubborn Gulls

Ryman Premier
Canvey Island 1
Harlow Town 1

HARLOW Town and Canvey Island played out an entertaining 1-1 draw on Bank Holiday Monday.

The Gulls finished the match with ten men after a late sending off.

It was Canvey who created the first goalscoring chance of note on 13 minutes when a corner was whipped in from the right wing.

Lee O'Leary rose high to flick the ball across goal and straight to Ryan O'Rawe at the back post, but he was unable keep the ball down and headed over the bar from close range.

However, Fabion Simms grabbed the opening goal after 22 minutes when defender Layne Eadie played a good ball from just inside the Canvey half on the left and found Simms, who slotted home past Conor Gough.

However, the Hawks were not able to hold their lead as in the 71st minute O'Leary chipped the ball to the back post for George Sykes to head home from close range.

Luis Morrison was then sent off with three minutes of normal time remaining when he was shown his second yellow card for pulling back Syrus Gordon as he attempted to burst into the area from the left.

The Hawks took four points from their Bank Holiday after a 3-0 win over Wingate & Finchley on Saturday.

In a superb performance, Jared Small grabbed the opening goal after 23 minutes, with Eadie bagging the second just five minutes later.

Another five minutes later and it was the third as Alex Read netted his third league goal of the season.

However, it wasn't the perfect day for the Hawks as Ibrahim Sonko was sent off.

Harlow sit 15th in the Ryman Premier table.

DECENT RUNS: Ashley Alderson stuck 83 on Saturday

Town threatened with relegation after loss

HARLOW Town Cricket Club are on the verge of relegation after their ninth defeat of the season on Saturday.

Town are second from bottom of the Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League Division Two table following an eight-run loss to Hainault & Clayhall at Phoenix Park.

Bowling first, Town struggled to make early inroads, however opener Dominic Hurst eventually fell to the bowling of Mohammed Ali for 18.

In fact, the wickets were shared around by the Town bowlers with Ali (2-63) taking another.

Ashley Alderson took 2-46, while the main wicket taker was his namesake Shaun, who finished with figures of 3-71.

Hainault ended their innings on 256-7 from 50 overs, with their joint top score coming from Mousshin Ismail and Sagar Joshi who both struck 62.

In reply, Town got off to a superb start with the combination of Shiraz Ali (36) and Ashley Alderson putting on 99 for the first wicket, before the former eventually fell to Ryan Hurst.

However, Hainault started to make their way through the batting line-up, with skipper Neil Gladwin (36) and Patrick Yates (46no) showing some resistance.

Ashley Alderson top scored with 83, as Town fell agonisingly short of the target.

They were bowled out for 248 in the 45th over, with the final two wickets coming from run outs.

The defeat leaves Town with a crunch final match of the season to avoid the drop.

They travel to Oakfield Parkonians, who will be desperate for a win to boost their chances of grabbing promotion to Division One.

Town are realistically in a relegation shoot-out with Hutton, Horndon on the Hill and Wickford, with just nine points separating all four of the clubs.

Medals for top Harknett twins in Southend

THE HARKNETT twins, Lewis and Owen, were once again in sizzling form to claim gold and bronze respectively over the 1500m steeplechase in the U17 men's category in Southend.

Owen, who is still recovering from an injury-plagued season won a well-deserved county bronze with 5:31.8.

BOSS SURE HAWKS ARE FA CUP SCALP

Chapman warns against potential exit to Romford

by Matt Storey

sportsdesk@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Town manager Danny Chapman is well aware that his side will be seen as a scalp in the early qualifying rounds of the FA Cup this year.

Chapman's side host Ryman North side Romford on Saturday in the first qualifying round and he knows they could be on the other side of an upset after last year's run.

The Hawks beat Southend Manor, Bedford Town, St Ives Town and National League South side Bath City in a replay to get within one game of the first round proper, before losing to Essex rivals and National League play-off semi-finalists Braintree Town.

Chapman said the cup is once again a priority for his side, but after promotion to the Ryman Premier and their cup exploits last season he is well aware they could be on the end of similar upsets if they don't prepare properly for the Romford game (Saturday, 3pm KO).

"We'll approach the game the same as we would for any league game," explained Chapman.

"Last year we did really well in the cup as a Ryman North club and we beat teams from above.

"We've got to be aware that now we are a scalp for other clubs, they're in the same position as we were last year and will want to beat us."

Romford haven't lost to Harlow for more than two years but that means Chapman knows what to expect from Paul Martin's side.

"They'll be a very, very hard-working side like Paul's always are," he added.

Approach

"We know they'll be well organised and tough to break down but we have to approach the game right.

"My boys will take it as seriously as they do a league game because the FA Cup is always a priority for us.

"But that's the case for every non-league club really, the prize funds are very good and it can bring in some much needed money.

"As last year proved anything can happen, smaller teams get to the first round proper every year."

Last year's victory away at Bath was a monumental moment for the club but they couldn't get past the ten men of Braintree in the fourth qualifying round.

Romford are yet to win in the league this year whilst Harlow picked up four points from two games over the Bank Holiday weekend, but form is so often irrelevant in cup games.

Chapman knows what is expected of his squad after last season's heroics and is determined to make sure his side take all opposition seriously, no matter what level they ply their trade.

The Hawks drew one and won one over the weekend, however Chapman insists they could have taken all six.

He said: "We had a good weekend, which we're pleased with.

"We did well on Saturday to pick up three points and really we feel that we were unlucky not to get six points from six.

"On the whole we dictated Monday's game and definitely deserved more.

"I'm delighted to take four points from the weekend and kick start the season to an extent."

NO SURPRISES: Danny Chapman doesn't want to see a cup upset
